Forecast For Highland & Eilean Siar
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 0400 on Thursday 28 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Rain, sleet, snow spreading northwards today. Showers in far north.

Today:
Rain, sleet, snow across far south, extending as far north as the Black Isle and Harris during afternoon. Snow level reaching very low levels, with some heavy falls over higher ground. Sunshine and isolated wintry showers continuing in far north. Maximum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Tonight:
Wintry showers and clear spells continuing in far north. Area of generally light and patchy sleet and snow elsewhere, turning to rain at times at lowest level, chiefly in south. Minimum temperature -6 deg C (21 deg F).

Friday:
Area of sleet and snow initially from Inverness southwards, erratically clearing southwards as sunshine and wintry showers follow from the north. Maximum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Cold with widespread frosts. Northerly winds feeding brighter spells and a scattering of rain, sleet and snow showers across northern areas, while south stays brightest and mainly dry.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.